The Christian Church of Arlington Heights, 333 W. Thomas, was broken into Friday night but no apparent damage or loss was reported to police.

Officers Ward of 311 S. Reister, notified police of the entry. Police found a broken window in the kitchen and said each room in the church had been searched. Several burned matches and matchboxes were found in the rooms.

Tollway Access Plan Gains

For final confirmation, a definite answer, he said, should be available in from 60 to 90 days.

Bonniwell suggested that some consideration might have to be given to improving highway access to Arlington Heights. It appears unlikely, though, that this will be a factor since Arlington Heights Rd., a four-lane highway, has better traffic capacity than most of the roads now intersecting with the tollway.

Bonniwell's sympathetic reaction to the interchange proposal is indicated in a letter he wrote to Gov. One Karner which he presented to the Friday meeting. In it he mentioned the importance of Arlington Heights and Elk Grove as areas to be served by the tollway, and assured the governor that he and his staff would give it their best consideration.

IN THE LETTER Bonniwell said that "the area should have 'in' to Chicago and 'out' at Arlington Heights Rd. (ramp) as a minimum."

Questioned by a committee member, Bonniwell stressed he was suggesting this limited access only as "the minimum," and was by no means ruling out a full interchange which would serve traffic coming from the west or going in that direction.

The need for a full interchange was emphasized by Arlington Heights Mayor John Woods who pointed out that Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove is important to the economy of the state and for its own development needs efficient access to the west.

JACK PAHL, mayor of Elk Grove, said that eventually 45,000 persons will be employed in the industrial park.

At another point in the meeting, Woods called attention to the heavy multi-lane highway which has been approved for access near the tollway, further increasing the need for adequate access.

Men told Bonniwell that his committee will prepare population density charts which will be turned over to the tollway commission for inclusion in its plan.

Participating in the meeting with Bonniwell were a staff of tollway engineers, including Chief Engineer C. A. Brownlee, and Edward J. Rowell, executive director of the commission.

Finished by September?

The site of the Byrd School in Elk Grove Village was inspected by parents and the 99 Board of Education members when the group was there Friday. The school was scheduled to be ready for occupancy in September.

Ask School Architect To Explain Delays

To us, it appears very much "in trouble," said Douglas Burns, board member.

"We are not to find out the status. I suppose we would be here all night and start pointing fingers at everybody. What we all want to see is a schedule. We want all the steps pulled out here," Burns said.

"I DON'T agree with the fact that this is the worst situation yet," said Frederick Quinn, general contractor.

"The John Jay School should be finished Sept. 1. The Byrd school is two weeks behind. We probably are about two weeks behind schedule on the projects. We set up a tight schedule and we have had almost three weeks of delay. The roof alone finished on the John Jay School and we are over here," Quinn said.

The school board and the contractors are working on the John Jay Elementary School in Mount Prospect.

It is hoped the Jay school will be ready in September but the Byrd school will not be opened until October.

"We're pretty disgusted with the program and don't know why it's falling behind."

AN ESTIMATED 300 pupils are expected to attend the Byrd School.

Representatives of Island School Co. also were on hand at the Friday meeting.

Loss of construction time on the schools apparently is due to two sets of approved architectural drawings that are being used on the building, according to Thomas.

PALMER said his firm and representatives of Island have been meeting in an attempt to solve the problem. He said there is no delay in obtaining working materials and that he has had co-operation with the sub-contractors on the job.

After Friday's meeting at the school site, Dr. Thomas had proposed to return to the administration committee to establish a time schedule for the contractors, but he decided to delay any board recommendations until the architect could be present.

Supi Donald Thomas said that he is making arrangements for the Byrd school in the district to be used for the Byrd school. He said the school building is completed. He said the district used the learning centers and temporary classrooms before when new schools were not finished in time for classes in the fall.

Thomas said several church parents have called him and offered their facilities for the children as temporary classrooms.

Architect Cone was not present at the meeting.

"I MEET with the architect and we set a schedule for the progress report and work that he would call out if there was any delay and I have not talked to him since then. The Board of Education has received progress reports and when we have checked the school, the reports are not true," Thomas said.

He asked Larry Palmer, representing the architectural firm, to call a meeting with Cone for tonight. Cone was vacationing in Canada Friday, Palmer said.

Sweet and Neat Wool Knits

BY MARILYN HELPERS
Women's Editor

"You'll look sweet."

"Upon the seat."

"Of a bicycle built for two!"

This fall you can even look sweet and neat upon a bicycle built for one, with the help of the new wool knit bicyclist fashions. Bicycling is fast becoming a number one leisure activity in the city as well as the suburbs, and fashion designers have created new action wardrobes. At a recent wool industry preview for Fall '67 bicyclist fashions created upon fashion news.

CULOTTES, SPLIT SKIRTS, tiny tidy trousers under shorts, short smocks and matching tight, knee-length pants suits were shown for cycling enthusiasts. Ladies can spin through town in a black Japanese schoolboy's tunic and shorts or a checked Norfolk collared-and-cuffed pullover and knee pants, complete with matching roller hat anchored securely with a chin strap.

For others there was a mini-pants dress sauced at the waist, a navy woolen wide-belted tunic over miniskirt shorts—conservative enough for most offices, or a balloon-legged shocker of a blouse dress. For still others, a woolen! magenta coat over a bright red pants dress was shown. The bicycle picture is never complete without bellies or workshirts (there are some nose-topped ones in lay to all woolen!).

A bonus provided by the recent bicyclist in the exercise that will keep you looking great in all your new wool fashions.

If you prefer motorcycles to bicycles, Vicki Cooper design of the green Annamite wool jersey pants suit with diagonal industrial zipper jacket and zipper pants pockets for U.S.A.

Football in July...An Early Start for the Travelers

And you think you were hot. The Northwest Travelers summer football team opened its first season yesterday, and this kind of activity was standard fare for a group of 70 prospective griders.

Here one of several quarterback candidates shows his stuff to a watchful Traveler coaching staff. The signal caller's job is wide open as is just about every other position on the team.

The familiar face in the background belongs to Al Adams, former Arlington High School and football coach. Adams will serve as an assistant coach with the Travelers. Co-coach Wayne Breneman surveys the action with Adams.

Legion 9 Takes Two Tourney Tilts

Arlington took a running jump into the American Legion baseball tournament yesterday, whipping Park Ridge Blue 3-1 Sunday and beating Des Plaines 1-0 yesterday.

John Loughman and Dave Kingman helped conserve the Legionnaires' all-important pitching resources by turning in complete games while their mates pounded out a total of 23 hits in the two games.

THE VICTORY earned the local crew a Monday run since it meant a bye in tonight's tournament action. Arlington will return to the Maine South High School diamond in Park Ridge tomorrow to face either Des Plaines or Palatine at 6 p.m. Mark Newman will be on the hill for that one.

Loughman looked immaculate through the first five innings of Friday's clash, retiring 15 of the first 17 men he faced. Two men got on one runner to account for Park Ridge's only runners in those five frames.

The crafty right-hander began to tire in the sixth, though, as he gave up a man out single but escaped without further damage. A lead-off home run by Randy Marks in the seventh broke up his bid for a shutout and another single fell in before he put the game away.

Loughman finished the afternoon with five strikeouts and didn't walk a man.

Arlington took a 1-0 lead in the fifth inning on a triple by Tom Eggerly and a double by Jim Gura and added three more runs on five hits in the sixth.

Dave Kingman, Jack Bantule, and Eggerly loaded the bases in that frame with consecutive singles, and an infield hit by Jim Gura sent two runs across. Another single by Joel Theisen scored Gura.

The Big Bug picked up its first run in the seventh, as Loughman drew a lead-off walk. Newman earned himself an error. Tom Lundstedt bunted safely, and Robbie Robinson singled Loughman home.

THE LEGIONNAIRES got another sparkling pitching performance from Kingman yesterday, although he didn't really need it. They routed Des Plaines at Bill Casper for five runs on three hits and three walks in the first two innings and got to first two enemy batters for another 10 safeties before it was all over.

There wasn't a man in the starting lineup who didn't score at least one run or drive one across in the course of the action, and only one starter went hitless.

Kingman meanwhile threw as if he were protecting a close run lead. The big right-hander did run into a streak of wildness in the fifth inning, though, walking in two runs after one had scored on a hit and an error.

HE PORTED 14 strikeouts in his seven -inning stint and allowed only three hits. Eight Des Plaines runners reached on walks.

Kingman got a runner as far as second base in the first inning, but it wasn't until the second to climb on Casper in the second. Eggerly and Gura started things by wangling walks, and Jack Brawley lined a single that scored Eggerly.

Two more runs crossed the plate on a single by Loughman before Newman slowed things down by rapping into a force play. Lundstedt got them going again with a ground rule double and later scored on a passed ball and a wild pitch.

THE LOCAL nine erupted for seven more runs in the fifth inning, sending 12 men to the plate. A blow by Bantule and a double by Eggerly were the big hits that lit the fire which was fueled by singles off the bats of Gura, Theisen, and Lundstedt.

A walk and another pair of doubles by Robinson and Cary Sain added up to two more runs in the seventh.

The familiar face in the background belongs to Al Adams, former Arlington High School and football coach. Adams will serve as an assistant coach with the Travelers. Co-coach Wayne Breneman surveys the action with Adams.

Nationals Lead RM Series Play

The National Division took a two-game lead over the American Division in the Rolling Meadows Boys' Baseball World Series this weekend.

Billy O'Donnell pitched the Nationals to an 11-2 opening game victory, limiting enemy batters to two hits. Eric O'Donnell and Greg Moran both pitched for the winning effort to two hits. Eric O'Donnell and Moran's three-bagger came from the leaguer by six American Division runs.

RICK O'CONNELL took over on the mound for his brother yesterday, picking up a 2-1 decision on a three-hitter. Losing twirler Gary Chesney also allowed only three hits, but one of them was a single by his mound rival which drove in the winning run in the fourth inning.

The only regularly scheduled major division play ended a triple off Steve Baker.

THE JETS handed the Zephyrs their first setback of the year in the instructional tour, 10-9 Sunday, after a win in the previous game. Jerry Wianowski was the winning pitcher, and Jamie Berg was the loser.

The Zephyrs bounced back Sunday with a 10-1 rout past the Cobles. Matt Klump got credit for the win. Mike Donahue whiffed a home run and Mike Knissland added a triple off Steve Baker.

Mustangs Even Playoffs In Boys Senior League

The Mustangs evened their senior division playoff series at one game apiece in the Arlington Heights Boys' Baseball League Saturday by edging the Browns 5-4.

The winners pounded over two runs in the top of the seventh to seal the verdict. Gary Anderson got the win in relief, giving up no hits in three innings, while Wayne Miller was named with the loss. The Browns' Dave Foreman pitched a home run and three singles in a losing cause.

A NINE-RUN second inning spoiled the Glenview 16-7 conquest of the Redskins in Varsity I action. Winning pitcher Dan Lau clubbed a home run in his own half.

Four games were played in the Varsity II league this weekend. The Falcons battled the Cobles 11-7 with an 11-run sixth which included a circuit clutch by Pat Terfry and another by Bill Carvignon and Steve Lett. Jeff Seeger was the winning pitcher.

The Robots split a pair of Varsity II verdicts, beating the Phillies by default and bowing to the Rams 11-1. Pat McCrane was the Rams' winning twirler, and brother Mike McCrane supported him with a triple. And the Phillies thumped the Bears 15-7 behind the pitching of Jim Press.

The Braves clinched the second-half championship in the National Major League Saturday, by downing the Dodgers 6-1. Dave Kohli got credit for the victory on the mound and hammered a home run. Kohli surrendered only three hits, one of which was a double by Bob Marz. Ed Foreman's three-hit the league leaders lost unblemished 4-0 marks in both the 16-and-under and 14-and-under loops. Mount Prospect's 16-year-olds are rated in fifth place while the local 14-year-olds are

Horoscope FOR TUESDAY

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — Best to keep to familiar routine today, rather than allowing yourself to slip into danger through an over-enthusiastic response to others.

VIDEO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Best not to put anything more into an old enterprise that isn't showing signs of getting anywhere. Keep reserves where they are.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — You're headed for a late this morning if you don't use superior judgment even in the smallest matters. Don't go overboard.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 23) — Best to check routine against fact before you inadvertently begin to spread gossip.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 - Dec. 23) — Let legal matters wait until you're in a better frame of mind to make decisions. Take care not to overuse the law.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 - Jan. 23) — Although you may emphasize the social during afternoon and evening, you would be wise to insist to business this morning.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 24 - Feb. 19) — Study the situation carefully before you agree to any expenditure in accordance with the law. This may not be the day for a good deal.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) — Others may try to persuade you by promises of great gain. Take care, however, that you don't rush in over your head.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) — A propitious afternoon follows a slow morning. Don't be misled into thinking you can go alone, however.

Taurus (Apr. 21 - May 21) — Backstreet could be the result of too much enthusiasm over new ideas. Stick to the tried-and-true for the time being.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — Depend on impulse and you'll not make good decisions this morning. Reason in your key to success.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — If called upon to settle a matter of dispute among co-workers, take care to use tact and diplomacy. Super-act the view.

Golf Course Plan Snags Building Project Approval

By Charles Moursides

The future of a major land development in Arlington Heights, the quarry property, now hinges on whether the developers are indeed planning to rezone the zoning of a proposed golf course.

The proposed 216-acre development, discussed at last night's village board meeting, is located west of Arlington Heights Rd. and north and south of Nichols Rd. It includes single family residences on 63.4 acres, multiple family units on 27.96 acres, and an 18-hole golf course. The developers are also requesting that the village purchase a sanitary landfill (garbage dump) on the 56-acre site of the quarry, where a youth was recently drowned.

TRUSTEE George Burlingame raised two questions regarding the proposed development.

"Will the golf course remain under the present zoning in the future or will apartment buildings mushroom on that location?"

"Is the idea of buying the quarry to the village's financial benefit?"

William Moore, the quarry attorney, said it is unreasonable for the board to ask his clients to commit themselves on the future of the golf course.

JOHN WOODS, village president, said, "Conversion of golf course to apartments is a well-established pattern in Cook County."

The Edgewater golf course in Chicago, presently under a pending 52 million dollar plan, is owned by the Old Orchard golf course, were cited as examples of the pattern.

Woods said his reaction to the development would be to file a lawsuit, but he was flustered by a covenant which would prevent the village from suing.

The proposal without a covenant is a different development, he said.

MOORE said he would be glad to discuss the matter with his clients.

Regarding the landfill, Burlingame said the developer of the landfill would purchase the quarry, took advantage of the site for several years and now wants to sell it to the village for more than $500,000.

"Is it possible to place a golf course, develop an expensive land, nearby a garbage dump?" Burlingame asked.

"I prefer to call it a sanitary landfill," Moore replied.

THE COST of the development, according to Moore, would reach $2 million, including the cost of the multiple family dwelling and a small commercial area.

James Stavros, August Stavros and N.M. Nemeth are listed as major beneficiaries of the property.

May Ban Small Planes from O'Hare

Small planes may be banned from O'Hare International Airport, according to a new ordinance.

William E. Downes Jr., chairman of the O'Hare Airport Authority, said the ordinance was drafted by Downes and Alexander.

Downes said small planes could be banned to Midway International Airport, which is the main airport for the city.

Downes said the ordinance would be passed by the board of directors of the O'Hare Airport Authority.

Vandals Set Fire, Slash Tires

Deep Wadsworth, owner of Wadsworth's Book Store, 310 North Dearborn, said the vandals had slashed the tires of his car.

Downes said the ordinance would be passed by the board of directors of the O'Hare Airport Authority.

Water Revenue Drained Off For Other Expenses

Although the ban on lawn sprinkling in Arlington Heights because of a water shortage is in effect, the board of trustees voted last night to transfer $140,000 from the water and sewer fund to improve its water system.

The $140,000 is listed in the village budget as "water utility profit." Mount Prospect is using the money to improve its water system.

Objection was initially raised by trustees Frank Palmer and George Burlingame but the appropriation was finally passed unanimously.

JOHN WOODS, village president, and Charles Bennett, treasurer, said the water and sewer fund should also pay part of the overhead expense of the village.

The question is, how much should that fund contribute to the village's overhead expense?

Records show that the transfer of the amount is even larger than the salaries of the village board members.

$5.8 Million Budget Set For Village

The Arlington Heights Board of Trustees last night appropriated $5,883,081 to defray necessary expenses and liabilities of the village between July 1, 1967 and April 30, 1968.

Major items include $570,126 for the police department, $329,670 for the fire department, $49,835 for the public works department, $200,000 for the library, $151,083 for the water and sewer fund and $231,574 for the bond and interest fund.

According to the list, unused funds in one account may be expended to make up a deficit in other accounts in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Church Thieves Get Phonograph

Larry Anderson was arrested July 12 in his home at 145 Dover Dr. by Sgt. Joseph Boop, Officer Robert Barnes, and Officer Michael Paces.

A girl taken from the Wilkins Music Store and a portable television set taken from Niles, a victim of a burglary, was found in Anderson's possession, police said.

He was charged with the burglary of both stores and was scheduled to appear in Niles Branch of Circuit Court July 18. Anderson was not to appear in court because he was being held by the Melitney County Sheriff's office for a burglary in Madison.

HIS CASE, on the two Mount Prospect charges has been continued in Niles Court to Aug. 15.

Detective Paces said the apprehension of Anderson has cleared up three burglaries at the Wilkins Music Store, three burglaries at the Des Moines Tire & Rubber Co., three burglaries at the Galt & Burt's Standard Station.

All the offenses were committed this year in Mount Prospect. Paces said most of the merchandise taken has been recovered by police.

"With information supplied by the Cook County Sheriff's Police have cleared four gas station burglaries," said Paces.

In Arlington Heights, Anderson and Martin Spack, 18, of 551 Clearmont, Elmhurst, were charged with the burglary of the 10 Ray Music Store this month.

POLICE said two other burglaries at the music store, one at the Marshall Co. Station and one at the Arlington Heights Police Station and the one at Arlington Heights, have been cleared by the Sheriff's Police.

Anderson and Spack are scheduled to appear in Niles Branch of Circuit Court July 28 to face the burglary charges.

Anderson also was arrested by Palmdale Police for the burglary of Olsen's Music Land. He is being held by the Melitney County Police for the burglary of the Sharp Music Store.

Two burglaries in Niles, Karnes Music Store, and Thomas Organ, also have been attributed to Anderson, Paces said.

Found, 'A Bargain'

By Catherine O'Donnell

Jim and Marie Moran of N. Duway have just returned from a vacation that included a three-day visit to Montreal's Expo 67.

The Morans report that they were amazed to discover that everything was most reasonable.

They drove on the Canadian Highway and the first thing they did when they got into Montreal was to visit a tourist booth and ask about a choice of hotels, motels or private homes. They picked the latter.

When they asked how to get there, the man in the tourist station said that the man of the house in which they would stay was driving in to pick them.

The rate for a super, clean, double bed room was $14 a night.

They got to the Expo 67 on a bus and the Morans—four tickets for one dollar. The entrance to the Expo cost two dollars, although it was possible to buy these books for three days or a week's admissions for ten.

"Every Pavilion in the place is free. There are restaurants in each of them and they were quite reasonable and the food was excellent."

The Expo spans a small town, in free. The Montreal which is closer and gives the passenger a better view, costs 10 cents. It runs right through the United States Exhibit.

"All of the different countries had good exhibits."

The Morans stopped for a first look at Niagara Falls, a thrilling event for anyone.

The only place where money could be freely spent at the Expo was in the amusement area. Marie and Jim loved touring the lovely old city of Quebec.

NO HAGGARD RICKSHAW
The Charles Clinton family of S. Beverly regretted having to go with a favorite mode of transportation but they were running out of colts to run.

It was a rickshaw that Mrs. Clinton had discovered in the middle of a chess display in a local store a while back. The store manager sold it to her.

About four feet high, it had a two piece seat and a three foot white tire. It was much for the riders and much work for the runners but everyone took turns.

"Every time I see it, I think about it," said Mrs. Clinton. "I probably miss it the most."

It was John, 13 and Sean, 12. The Young Vibrators will give a concert tonight to give a concert tonight at 8:25 in Mitchell.

Use of Radioactivity In Pollution

A new application of the properties of radioactivity may result in a revolutionary approach in the fight against pollution in the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

The district has sponsored two studies concerning the use of radioactivity in killing pollutants in sewage.

Dr. Jerome Stein, director of research and development, told the day one seminar that the system ever attempted to use radioactivity for the purpose of killing pollutants in sewage.

He said the whole concept is based on the ability of gamma rays to "thrust out" the bacteria in untreated sewage and change it chemically.

"It is like the thick dirt in a bottle of water," he said. "You let the water calm and the dirt settles in the bottom of the bottle."

"In our case, gamma rays draw the sludge and isolate it from the rest of the liquid which becomes clear and disinfected."

GAMMA RAYS are electromagnetic radiations emitted by certain unstable atoms. They are very much like X-rays and gamma rays travel toward heavy targets and penetrate them.

The sanitary district, which the city is partly responsible for, has been studying the use of radioactivity in sewage treatment for many years.

Day Light

BY RICHARD CRABB

Spending an hour talking about Wheeling Township with Albert F. Vols is roughly the equivalent of having an opportunity to talk with Abraham Lincoln about the Civil War or Babe Ruth about the day he pitched to outpace in Wrigley Field, and then slugged a Charlie Root punch for a world series home run.

This man is 96 and does not see as well or win foot races as he once did but he is a sparkling conversationalist, full of interesting information and common sense.

Vols has lived in Wheeling Township for almost 100 years. He was a boy of sixteen and beginning to make a living income in public affairs when the village of Arlington Heights was founded. Not that there was no town here before that, mind you. Vols wishes to point out that he was born in DuSart and that the town of his birth had two names before that.

The first, he points out, was West Wheeling, a name especially appropriate since the village from East Wheeling now known merely as "Wheeling." The name situation was to a degree trivial. When the railroad was built through the area, it put the name "Big Grove" in its station for a time.

ALBERT F. VOLS moved his township and his town, by whatever name it bore, well to Wheeling Township's representative in the Illinois General Assembly. He was a outstanding businessman and a two-time village president of Arlington Heights. But Vols has so very greater claim upon the gratitude of the people in Wheeling Township. More than any other person he is entitled to be called "the father of the Northwest Highway."

That the Northwest Highway is a rather recent development is attested by the fact that Albert Vols was nearly 55 years old and had already finished his work in the Illinois legislature and mayor of Arlington Heights before he suggested the need for creating the Northwest Highway.

In 1924 Vols was riding on the train through Mount Prospect toward Arlington Heights chiding with a close friend when he observed what a great advantage it would be to have a highway that ran along the railroad through Wheeling township or perhaps even from Des Plaines to Palatine or Barrington.

His friend said he had thought of such a highway himself. Together they decided to go to work on the proposal. It took some doing, first to get the highway built and later to get it widened for greater utilization. Vols was a leader in both efforts. The major objection was that the highway would mean cutting down trees. Objectors took matter to court but in the end agreed that progress would have to be made.

ONE OF VOLS' regrets is that people who came later to live in the important sectors and roads in Wheeling Township. He gives two examples. State Road 140 extended from Naperville to Half Day even when he was a boy. What useful purpose was served by retaining this historic road, "Arlington

ALBERT F. VOLS

Heigh Road." Vols wonders how that road, which has been changed in Foundry, in Cook County, is still Foundry. What advantage was gained by retaining it "Kensington Road" in Arlington Heights?

The former name was a pointed reminder of an interesting period of business development and history on that road. A foundry was established on "Foundry Road" at the site of the present Arlington Heights water tower in 1874 and remained in use until after World War I.

Vols is something of an authority on names. He studied the situation and finds, for instance, that Arlington Heights in several other places, including Pennsylvania, Ohio and California.

"You'll like Harmon! He's a real, mindless, bureaucrat's mindless bureaucrat!"

The Garbage War, It's Solid Waste

The federal government is wonderful and Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights could be missing out on a good deal.

Those are thoughts we're left with after reading an account of Des Plaines' last city council meeting which centered around discussions of a federal grant for supplying paper garbage bags.

It seems that the nation's fathers have somehow — in spite of things like the war on poverty and the Vietnam conflict — found a way to make $90 million available for a unique experiment. The experiment, part of the Solid Waste Act, has to do with substituting paperbags for conventional metal garbage cans.

Nobody has really pointed out exactly what is wrong with a good old-fashioned garbage can. We can think of several good points about them. What would the garbage men have to inhale? And what if someone took away their metal garbage cans?

Actually, we should be fair to the government. They don't pay the whole cost of the paper bags — just two thirds of it. Municipalities agreeing to tackle the challenge of the Garbage War and with a taste for adventure will enough on their third.

Reportedly, Des Plaines officials have been investigating the problem quite intensively. Mayor Harmon Behrer is it said, even wrote letters to other cities who have made the switchover to the bag.

Evidently all of the cities are happy with the paper bags and the government's money. There is one little problem reported by each city, according to Behrer. It seems that dogs and cats have a way of clawing their way through to the tasty morsels stored in the bags when they're left out overnight.

The Des Plaines city council was undoubtedly by this minor problem, however, and voted to apply for the federal grant.

After all, maybe next year the government will make another $90 million available to study ways to lick the dog and cat problem.

Nursing Child Not Harmed If Mother Takes the 'Pill'

Q—A woman writes that she plans to nurse her baby but would also like to take birth control pills. She wants to know whether it is safe to take them while nursing the baby. These hormones taken by a mother would not harm the baby. The chief danger to be avoided by a nursing mother are estrogen or testosterone, bromides, sodium, calcium, etc. and so on.

Q—What are the dangers in getting a child too much calcium?

A—In the case of a child, or adult for that matter, calcium is especially in cases where there is a lack of the appetite and catches him or she may lose at him and whole to get him to turn his head or eyes in the direction of his feet. Won't this make the baby become nervous?

A—For a loving father the behavior you describe is irresponsible. At six weeks a baby is not capable of such treatment and it is not likely to result in the love for the baby being returned. A baby is not bound to be whistled at. When the baby is old enough to crawl don't be surprised if he crawls under the bed when he hears his father coming. He learns the father changes his

MR. AND MRS. JOHN KALINOWSKI JR.

After a two week honeymoon in California and Las Vegas the new Mr. and Mrs. John Kalinowski Jr. are now at home in Chicago.

The bride, Jessie L. Hill, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Hill of Arlington Heights and her husband, John Kalinowski Jr. is the son of Mrs. John Kalinowski Sr. and the late Mr. Kalinowski of Chicago.

THE FIRST Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights was decorated with white candles on the communion table and flowers on the pews as Dr. Paul L. Stumpf performed the June 17 wedding. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Wearing a floor-length gown of champagne lace over silk, the scalloped bodice of her dress was adorned with pearls and the skirt formed a chapel train. Her white satin headpiece was decorated with lace and pearls and held a shoulder-length veil.

The white Bible she carried, belonged to her as worthy Abigail of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls and was adorned with white orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and spriguettes.

THE MAID of honor, Vidali Mavropoulos of Arlington Heights, and the bridesmaids Joanel Vidinos of Morton Grove, Jane Krane of Arlington Heights and Lynne Miller of Whiting, Ill., all wore pastel blue cape gowns of lace over linens and carried white baskets of white daisies and blue cornflowers.

THOMAS Garriga of Chicago and Mrs. Helen Usher were Deputies of Chicago, Robert Kalinowski of Chicago, and Rose and Edwin Hill of Arlington Heights.

A reception was held for 150 guests at the Motor V Restaurant.

R.M. Jaycees Plan Four Fun-Filled Days

Four fun-filled days of rides, games and amusement will begin Thursday when the Rolling Meadows Jaycees open their third annual carnival to Tupper Springs lot on Kirchoff Rd. and Meadow Dr.

The Jaycees will have a ring toss booth with big odds, a stuffed animal machine as prizes. The V.F.W. will be in charge of the food concessions and the Rolling Meadows Fire Dept. will man the beer booth.

ONE HIGHLIGHT of the carnival will be the Jaycees' One Circle Contest at 1 p.m. on Saturday. Entry tickets are now available at Cuyamaca's Dept. store and at the Jaycees Booth throughout the carnival. Mrs. David Stenhouse, chairman of the event, says trophies, ribbons and prizes will be awarded to winners and each contestant will receive a balloon.

Slip-Booze

Little girls will say flower girls and bridesmaids are the ones who slip, but it is a boy, possibly a daily case, some have long torn bottoms followed with all sorts of rumors and tales. Short or long stories for your little girl's reference.

The ENTIRE cost of Gala was underwritten by Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCullough of Park Ridge, McCullough's executive vice-president of Combined Insurance Co. His contribution makes it possible to use the $20,000 from the ticket sales for the equipment the hospital is planning to buy.

To insure a perfect end to the evening, Chick Coleman provided music for those who wanted to dance, and selections included everything from the frog to the waltz. A subtle "Good Night Sweethearts" reminded the dancers it was time to leave.

A Positive Mental Attitude and "The Success System That Never Fails."

Music was by Chick Coleman's Orchestra, with vocal selection by the Con-Ten-tionals.

Comedian Yonely, the quiet musician, played the musical instruments, to everyone's amazement and amusement. He was followed by Don Rice, whose dry wit has made him a favorite on the Perry Como Show.

New Wells to Beef Up Village's Water Supply

Arlington Heights will soon have a new source of water. The public works department is drilling one new well at 1700 E. Palestine and a second one will soon be constructed, according to Gene Willroth, director of the department.

The present water shortage has resulted when the meters of two existing wells burned out.

The shortage will be partly met by this weekend and the village is no longer pumping in water from the Arlington Park Race Track, Willroth said.

Two new meters have been ordered and one is expected to arrive by the end of the week, he said.

The new well, which is costing the village about $100,000, will be the sixth one.

Building many additional wells to have a steady supply of water in case of emergency apparently is no solution to shortage problem.

S.W. Curry, chairman of the Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine Water Commission, said, in his opinion, more wells are not necessary now and spending the money would be economically unfeasible.

You have to take a chance as you do with possible electric power failure, he said.

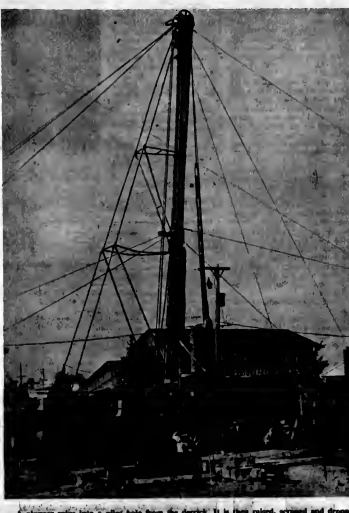

The best bet now, Curry said, is still in effect.

Willroth said, however, laws need to be watered only about once a week.

He gave this general rule of determining whether the lawn is getting enough water.

You put a one-pound coffee can in the area you wish to water. When it is filled with one inch of water it means the lawn has had enough water.

"Don't waste water by letting it run on the street," he said.

A planter again into a planter hole from the dirt. It is then planted, nurtured and dropped again, standing a few feet further with such plants. The village's sixth well is now under construction.

THE ILLINOIS REPORT House Approves Weston A-Site Appropriation

By United Press International

WASHINGTON - The House yesterday with little debate approved $7.2 billion Energy Commission's planned 200-billion-electron-volt accelerator at Westons, Ill.

Chicago May Escape Violence

Police Supt. James B. Condit Jr. said the Chicago police department might soon be able to observe in Detroit.

Condit, the new superintendent of police, said job opportunities, recreational facilities and improved housing in Chicago had eased tensions and lessened the probability of trouble.

Condit said he was hopeful that Chicago would escape the major disturbances this summer.

At a news conference, Condit said "the police department will respond quickly, aggressively and with sufficient force to cope with any situation if it arises."

He called the Detroit violence criminal activity, "in no way related to civil rights."

In other activity related to the rioting in Detroit:

A least two airlines reported in Chicago that their offices in downtown Detroit had been closed because of the violence.

Two of three car rental agencies at O'Hare Field said business had taken a hit.

Wader Drowns In Wolf Lake

Harold Gregory, 20, of Chicago, drowned in Wolf Lake last night as his 15-year-old brother and 10 other companions looked on, helplessly.

Witnesses said Gregory was wading when he suddenly slipped and went under. Police said he apparently fell from a drop-off and drowned.

United Buys $690 Million In New Jets

United Air Lines announced it had bought 25 jet airplanes and ordered another 34 at a cost of $690 million.

Sixty-two jet worth $520 million were ordered from the Boeing Co. the airline ordered an additional 18 planes from McDonnell Douglas Corp. at $170 million.

United said it ordered 13 jets 747s, 20 jets 727s, five of Boeing's new 760s and 1773, 10 DC 727s, six 727-600s, 10 DC 6-62s, nine DCF fighters and five super DC-8s.

Prospect's Job Done By Arlington

Although a field, the site of a hazardous uncovered munition, was found not to be in Arlington Heights by Police Manager L.A. Hanson, village police works crew yesterday covered the open sewer after complaints that the 15-foot deep munition presented a menace to children.

Hanson ordered the action after hearing of the open sewer yesterday afternoon. Earlier, this week, Mount Prospect Mayor Daniel J. Chatter said he could not take action because the sewer, it is supposed that the Rialto Water Bus Co. yard, is not in Mount Prospect.

Hanson, who maintains that the "old tank" is located in Mount Prospect, said he ordered public works to dig in to children playing in the field.

Driver Ticketed In Accident

Ellie C. Martin, 51, of 940 N. Kaspar, was charged with driving a car into a ditch on July 24.

Police said her car collided with a car driven by Mark Koepfner, 70, of 839 N. Fernandez, at Kaspar and Elm.

Curb Painters Earn Smile - of Farewell

The printed card read: "Please save a donation or a mile for the student who calls at your shop this evening."

Arlington Heights Police had a smile, and a farewell message for the painters of the curb.

A resident called police Tuesday to report three college students who had painted numbers on the curbs in the Sunny Ridge subdivision.

The caller said police the youths were asking for donations for the work.

The student, David Young, Scott Coulton, and Brian Galt, all of Rockford, said they were college students and were doing the job as a service for the community and to earn money for school.

The boys told police they were not aware of the village ordinance and they would try another town.

C of C Backs Park Referendum

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed the Aug. 3 referendum proposed by the park district.

"I was overwhelmed by their support," said Dick Fester, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the referendum.

"We believe the proposal is well conceived, has been carefully analyzed and is properly drawn," the Chamber's endorsement read.

The parts committee of the village board said four reasons for recommending the vote support the referendum.

"The last major park referendum was in 1956 when the village population was 19,000. It is more than 50,000 now."

2 Zoning Variations Granted

Two zoning variations, one of them in the Central Business District, were granted last night by the Arlington Heights Zoning Board.

The property at the intersection of W. Campbell and S. Chestnut was rezoned for office building. The property had been zoned for multiple-dwelling use.

Wrong-Way Pumping Not Firemen's Doing

Arlington Heights firemen were not involved in the pumping of 10,000 gallons of water retaining water from Mount Prospect.

Because pressure in the Arlington Heights system was higher, however, because Arlington water reservoirs have a higher elevation than those of the wrong way.

Village officials then ordered a fire department pumper to a fire hydrant in Mount Prospect to pump water into Arlington Heights.

The firemen spent 19 hours on the job and pumped about 10,000 gallons of water.

Warrant Issued For Bad Check

A warrant has been issued by the Arlington Heights Police for the arrest of Thomas Koutos of Palatine for deceptive practice.

A complaint has been filed by Paul Henry Knott, Arlington Heights attorney Tuesday.

Knott told police he was paid for his professional services with a $2,500 check that was returned twice from the bank for insufficient funds.

Plan Offered To Expand Survey On Tollway Access

The Arlington Heights-Elk Grove Tollway Access Committee has recommended that the Illinois Tollway Commission conduct traffic surveys on additional arterials before reaching a decision on construction of an interchange at Arlington Heights Rd.

In a two-page letter, the access committee suggested that the commission also con-

New Bank Called Answer to Need

The proposed Security Community Bank, which will be located on Golf Rd., will be built to serve residents on the south side of Mount Prospect, Evanston, Skokie, and Des Plaines.

The bank was approved by the Illinois Commission of Bank and Trust Companies last week, and Sauer says it will fill a real need in that village.

The railroad tracks in Mount Prospect in reality cut the village into north and south sections," Sauer said. "Since there is no bank located on the south side of the village at present, we showed the state officials there was a real need."

THE BANK'S territory will be south of Northwestern Highway to the tollroad, and east of White Rd. extending to the Chicago & North Western railroad spur in Des Plaines.

Before the application for the bank was filed, a survey of the south Mount Prospect area was conducted by Dr. Edward Larson, a marketing analyst who was supplied by the American National Bank in Chicago.

The response to the survey, Sauer said, was enthusiastic, indicating that the people in the area would certainly use the banking facilities if they were available. On this basis, the application was filed, Sauer said.

PRINCIPALS in the new bank are Theodore Dittich, Dittich, Home Builders, William Turner, 801 S. Duane, Arlington Heights, E. M.

Fletcher, Dan Plaines; William Needer and Lowell Needer, Evanston, and Philip Muller, Des Plaines. The bank will have an investment of $750,000, consisting of $200,000 capital stock, $200,000 surplus, and $350,000 reserve for operating expenses. According to Sauer, there is no bank in the village of Mount Prospect.

The bank will probably put the stock up for general offering in the near future, Sauer said, "since the state encourages local participation in the banking operations."

No date has been set for connection to begin on the bank, but it will be located at 1001 Golf Rd., Sauer said.

Civil Defense Sponsors Talk

The Rolling Meadows Civil Defense District and Rescue Team will sponsor a speech by Sherman Larson, head of the Chicago & North Western affiliate office of the National Investigating Commission of Aerial Phenomena.

According to a civil defense spokesman, the speech will be given at 8 p.m. at the Community Church of Rolling Meadows, which will be open to the public. The spokesman explained that the program is being presented especially for civil groups, fire departments, and civil defense groups.

Admission to the event is 50 cents and tickets may be obtained by calling 352-2030 or 355-5967. The speech will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A Garden Green With Memories

BY MARILYN HELLERS

Picking raspberries in her garden, but in April John Dittich died and Mrs. Dittich has been doing her gardening alone.

"This big garden is too much work for just me," she said. But she looked up with a smile in her eye and said, "Next year I'll join her."

When she and her husband started their vegetable garden in 1927, it was just a small plot. Mrs. Dittich hunted about in her garden as she talked, dressed in her practical garden clothes to protect her from any angry mosquitoes, and not at all hindered by her age. She stopped to show a neighbor boy, Tom Kenney, the proper way to pick raspberries and to supply some of her Scardale.

DAMP Asks Lake Water In Long-Range Program

After eight years of research, the area water commission has requested from the state allocation of Lake Michigan water to satisfy the local expected minimal need.

The needs of the area largely depend on how fast village growth and are industrial.

Said S.W. Curry of Arlington Heights, an engineering economist and chairman of the commission which deals with the needs of Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine (DAMP Water Commission).

Curry said that there is no immediate agency for long-term water supply but prepared now in order to meet future needs.

The commission, Curry said, was established for that purpose and in 1957 and 1963 studies it researched the water needs of the area. The study is under way now.

DAMP has requested from the state division of waterways allocation of $5,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan in 1967.

"That would bring into the area a water supply," Curry said. "The commission, a non-profit organization, would then sell the water to the four villages."

"I expect prompt action from the state," Curry said.

THE VILLAGES can follow four alternatives to meet themselves future water needs.

"Direct supply from the lake. That is what the commission is now requesting."

"Indirect supply through Chicago. This is a legal right the village reportedly has because of their membership in the Metropolitan Sanitary District."

A third alternative is for the individual village to drill its own wells. This has been done.

"There are other alternatives that we are not aware of at this time," Curry said.

Fred Valenti, Harper's director of placement and Plan Board, Safety Com. Meet Tonight

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission and the Public Safety Commission are scheduled to meet tonight, about 8 p.m.

All About the Birds and Trees

By Catherine O'Donnell

There is quite an extensive housing project going up at the corner of Schoolboard and McDonald Rds. in Prospect Heights.

Twelve houses already have been built and the material for many more is stashed away in the large car garage.

The houses that are up and being lived in are being built from various tree branches in the large yard of the Frank Walter home. They are bird houses.

Doris Walter has become something of an expert on bird houses since her husband has finally succumbed to an ambition he has had for many years. He always wanted to build the different type wooden structures for the numerous birds that somehow find their way into his yard.

He has three houses for the wrens. Because wrens like to move from one house to the next like apartment living, so their houses are made up in 18 to 24 compartments.

The bluebirds live in a duplex side by side. They were happy enough until a sparrow family moved in next door.

The two do not get along. Doris explained that the different species of birds which house was built for them because of the openings. The larger birds cannot fit through the small doorways and the small birds feel too exposed with the large doors.

THE BIRD HOUSE. which Frank will build on one of the trees in the yard, is only a small part of the fascinating corner house.

The long driveway curves around as the tree trunk must be one of the oldest if not the oldest in Cook County. The trunk is at least five feet in diameter and the top covers more than 100 feet.

"The tree is old," said Doris. "We've heard from some of the real old timers in the neighborhood that it was here before the house and the house is more than 100 years old."

FRANK'S talent with wood is displayed everywhere. The original house has had its porch converted to a very modern kitchen. A sunken living room that was added with a fireplace is an inviting spot on a cool day or on a warm one. A garden filled with corn, tomatoes, rutabagas, cabbage and green beans in the back of the house, is fenced with neatly painted white milk cans. The large sink is protected with two wags which guide cars that come into the yard.

FRANK AND Doris have filled their home and every empty space in the garage with antiques and memorabilia. An antique telephone with a crank that looks as if it hadn't been used has a brass sign on it that says it was made by the Kellogg Schoolboard Co.

On a shelf in the garage is

Sweet Sax Solo

A saxophone solo "Sweet Winds," played by Mrs. Marilyn Wood on lead solo sax, will be the featured selection in the Palestine Village Band Concert Friday.

The open air concert will be held at 8 p.m. in Arlington Community Park.

Mrs. Woods, of Palestine Heights, is the owner of Ma and Pa's Country Candy Store in the village.

OTHER selections to be played by the band include "Forzy and Bess," by Garthwin; "Tubby, The Tub," a comedy of names; "Benny, Benny," by Carlos Ocasio; "It's a Profession," from "Lohanigan" by Bill Wagner; "Four Wayfaring Strangers," arranged by Playboy; "Saguna for Young Moderns," by John Chastain; "Faded," by Paul Yoder, and the medley, "Officer of the Day" by R. B. Hall, and "On the Square" by Frank A. Pennell.

The summer concert series presented by the Village of Palestine and the Palestine Park District each Friday, will continue through Aug. 18. Harold Ray will conduct the band in the place of Fred Elliot who is on vacation.

Mrs. and Mr. John Walter and their son, John, 13, stand their 100-year-old house and plant the tree as ideal place for the family and their dogs, Barro, the great Dane and Sami, the poodle.

a small heron's nest that was one of the original substitutes for a camp fire. It is labelled Summergirl Keronese.

Probably the first of the in-dwelling is another item the family treasure. It is a white enamel stove just large enough to place a log in it. The burning log consumes the garbage.

BEHIND the garage there is a wren enclosure where the Walters raise pheasants. Pheasants can only be raised by special license from the state. There are 25 wild writhing around and a good supply in the family freezer. They all came from a pair that Doris gave Frank as a Christmas gift.

Another interesting relic of what used to be is a small cement mixer.

"We haven't used it yet," said Doris. "But Frank has it in shape to be used whenever we feel that we need cement."

THE WALTERS have nine children. The oldest is 23, is married and is the mother of three which makes the Walters the youngest looking grandparents anywhere.

All visitors are greeted by Barro, a giant Great Dane, whose head just reaches into the visitor's car window for a few affectionate swipes with a wet tongue. He is joined usually by Samantha, the small black poodle who matches him in loud barks. There are also two cats who have learned to climb the bird house dwellers and concentrate on field mice.

THE ELDEST daughter at home is Sally who graduated from Wheeling High School in June. Sally was a model at the Auto Show last year and has just been awarded a grant to study journalism at Harper Junior College.

Each member of the family has a favorite item. Frank loves his bird houses. Doris is enchanted with the old gold nooses that came from the McCormick mansion on Rush street. Sally likes her own very modern bathroom room and the children love the old cedar door. It's great for sliding. Visitors usually pick the very ancient oak door at the front of the house with the second glass window.

Yes, it's quite a corner.

The numbers are arranged in a pattern that suggests a Latin square design, where each number appears exactly once in each row and column.

Youth Held on Girl's Charges

Dorothy H. Luns, 18, of Elgin, is being held on Cook County Jail on $5,000 bond after he was arrested by Arlington Heights and Wheeling Police who charged him with four counts of sexual misconduct dating involving a minor.

Park Officials Encouraged On Referendum

Arlington Heights Park District directors and members of the Citizens Committee and others working for approval of the Aug. 5 referendum are encouraged by public backing this week from such organizations as the Arlington Heights Youth Center, the Chamber of Commerce, according to Chairman Frank C. Moore, park district president.

"It is very gratifying to the Park District and the Citizens Committee that the public has so strongly endorsed the Park District's position but they do not expect it to be a landslide," said Moore. "It is obvious that they are all working, in my view, the best interests of the entire village."

Big Crane Speeds School Construction

A 35-ton crane was in operation yesterday, hoisting heating units to the roof of the new Elementary School District buildings.

Five heating units were placed in the roof of the John Jay Elementary School in Mount Prospect. The crane moved to the Admiral Richard Byrd School site in Elk Grove Village to install the units there.

Work on the two schools has been delayed because a 35-ton crane was not available. Through the efforts of the Hardy Heating and Duct Company, architect, the equipment was obtained.

"THE CRANE was immediately to the Byrd School after completing the job at the Jay School," said Dick Vlasak, assistant superintendent.

Monday the Board of Education members met with Architect Gene C. Cone & Dorehanna, Barrington, and contractors for the two schools to discuss the delay in construction.

Cone reported to board members that a crane operator did not believe the 35-ton crane he had was adequate to lift the heating units to the roof.

The schools were scheduled to open in September for classes. Dr. Donald Thomas, superintendent, is expected to issue a schedule of the construction to board members Friday.

Park Dist. Beach Party Mayors Back Municipal Council Plan

The Arlington Heights Park District will sponsor a trip to the Illinois Beach State Park in Waukegan, in connection with The Slide Door youth center on Saturday, Aug. 2.

Busses will leave from Recreation and Pioneer parks at approximately 10 a.m. and return to both locations around 2 p.m. The same day. Cost of the trip will be $1.50.

Any junior high school students in the area wishing to go to the beach party will pick up a parent permission slip at Recreation, Pioneer, or Madison parks, or may get one this Friday night at The Slide Door (Recreation Park).

Three new mayors support County Board President Richard B. Ogilvie's initial idea for a council of municipal governments (CMG), although one of them says he has some reservations.

"I have offered my cooperation to Ogilvie, and I wrote to him that we would have many decisions that affect them," said Daniel Congreve of Mount Prospect.

"I think it is about time construction is being done to create such a council. It's a good idea," said Roland Meyer of Rolling Meadows.

Yogurt enthusiasm is tempered by the fact it is not a new idea and in some areas it has been effective while in others not so effective," said John G. Wood, of Arlington Heights.

Meyer said that now local governments find out too late about many decisions that affect them.

"All too often they do things and we know nothing of what's happening until it is too late," he added.

Both Congreve and Meyer appeared to accept the proposed agency as an attempt to the effects of the existing Northwest Municipal Conference, NMC, a voluntary group of officials.

Sewer Repair Plan Offered

The public works committee of the Mount Prospect Village Board decided to recommend to the village manager that the village undertake the repair of sewers belonging to the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Under the plan, Trustees Donald Rogers said, the village would clean out the sewers to insure that they are cleared in their entirety, and then ask the sanitary district to reimburse the village for the cost of the work.

The recommendation will come before the board of trustees next Tuesday.

How to add $50,000 to your present salary

You can do it without getting a raise or seeking a better job. Suppose you are making $10,000 a year and approximately one-fourth (which is the national average) is tied up in installment payments.

If you are paying only 20 per cent for the use of this money (which is a modest figure), this means that it is costing you $600 just for interest and carrying charges. If you earn $20,000, the amount doubles to $1,000.

You can add this money to your current income by building up savings so that the money is in hand when the time comes to buy. This is really the smart way to do things.

HOME BUYER'S GUIDE

Househunters Set Sights On Space, Ease and Luxury

The habits of a house-hunter are predictable, according to a national survey of new-home buyers.

He will, for instance:

1. Investigate seven houses before buying;
2. Visit the house of his choice three times before making a final decision;
3. Consider, in this order: community appearance, builder reputation, nearness of schools and shopping facilities; and
4. Demand lots of space, labor-saving appliances, and some luxury items.

In addition, says the survey, the homeowner wants a house that saves him trouble and money in upkeep and expresses a degree of individuality. He'll look for special features such as walk-in closets, extra storage space, a patio and low maintenance building materials.

WHAT THE modern homeowner wants is not hard to find in today's homes. In the low-maintenance category, he's likely to find roofing materials such as asphalt shingles that are backed by the manufacturer for from 20 to 25 years of trouble-free service and offer a bonus of high-quality weather resistance and a choice of attractive colors.

Minimal maintenance siding, like hardboard exterior panels, finds favor with new and oldhand homeowners alike because it meets the house-hunters' requirements for low care, durability and good looks.

Hardboard siding, for instance, will withstand year-round weather abuse without denting, splitting or cracking, and is available in a variety of lap and panel styles and surface textures to suit any architectural decor. Because it's an "engineered" wood product, it has a smooth, knot-free surface that takes paint readily and can be hose-washed clean. Most hardboard siding is available prefinished or preprimed and ready for painting.

ALTHOUGH house-hunters are pretty definite about what they want in a new home, other factors take on increased importance after they've lived in their new house for a couple of years: the convenience of shopping centers, schools and recreation facilities, the upkeep of neighboring houses, and the social class of community residents.

If a homeowner bought a one-story house the first time around, it's likely that he'll prefer a different style next time he's in the market for a new house.

But chances are that no matter how many times he moves, he'll still rate as important features a two-car garage, an extra half-bath, built-in kitchen appliances, and special such as air-conditioning, a fireplace and good landscaping.

Listings Pooled

Two large multiple listing services have pooled their listings.

The Park Ridge Multiple Listing Service and the Northwest Suburban Multiple Listing Service are now co-operating in the listing and sale of homes.

Sales personnel of both services are now equipped to show effectively properties in areas formerly individually covered.

Check Weak Spots

After a storm is the right time to check for the weak spots in your home which may need caulk, repairing, replacing, weatherstripping.

Inexpensive Homeowners Insurance Now Available

Many Illinois insurance companies Monday began offering a new homeowners' policy variation for persons who seek less expensive coverage than the type currently offered.

John F. Bolton, Illinois Director of Insurance, has approved a new all-peril $100 deductible provision for homeowners policies recommended by the Illinois Inspection and Rating Bureau and the Multi-Line Insurance Rating Bureau on behalf of affiliated companies.

The new deductible is an alternative to the automatic $50 disappearing deductible introduced earlier this year.

Premium for a policy with the $100 non-disappearing deductible is about 20 per cent lower than the present premium for a policy with the $50 disappearing deductible.

A deductible provision means that the policyholder pays for the first part of damage, and the insurance company pays for the remainder. Under a disappearing deductible, the amount that the policyholder pays decreases as the amount of damage increases, disappearing altogether when the claim reaches $500.

Need space? This 8 room home can be expanded to five bedrooms to accommodate a long lived family. With a separate dining room, built in kitchen, full basement and quiet location, it is a home you should see. Call today for appointment.

Mad for Mod

The "Mod" mood in home furnishings no longer can be called a fad, but is a "full blown wind of change."

So reports one organization, the Latex Foam Rubber Council, which keeps tabs on furnishings trends. "Mod" has brought "fresh air . . . new nerve" to designs in textiles, wallpaper, floor coverings, furniture and accessories, says the council.

(Second of a four-part series.)

"Jellyfish floating" is an ideal way for a child to experience full buoyancy, according to Robert Pohl, Red Cross water safety chairman.

To teach a child to "jellyfish float," stand next to the youngster in waist-deep water. Ask him to take a breath, bend forward with his hands on his thighs until his face and upper body submerge in the water, and then to reach down and grasp his ankles without bending his knees.

As his upper body submerges, the water will buoy him up and lift his feet off the bottom of the pool. The youngster's body is now suspended in the water, with only a part of his arched back showing. To the youngster, how to recover his footing from this position, just tell him to lift his head and upper body toward the surface so that his feet can settle on the bottom.

PRACTICE THE "jellyfish float" with the beginner several times, until he feels confident that the water will hold most, if not all of his weight. Pohl said when the child "feels at home in the water" he is ready to learn the prone float that leads to natural swimming movements.

To teach a beginner the prone float, ask the child to face you in waist-deep water and to place both of his outstretched hands in yours. Instruct him to take a breath, put his face in the water and stretch his legs back as far as they will go.

With legs outstretched, instruct him to relax in the water. This enables him to float easily, with his heels close to the surface.

IT'S POSSIBLE, however, that a body can sink deeper into the water - though, in reality, it is still floating. This sinking sensation can sometimes frighten a beginner and slow his learning. To avoid frightening a child, Pohl suggested you take the youngster's outstretched hands in one of yours, step alongside his body and support his waist from underneath with your free hand.

To teach a beginner how to stand up from the "dead man's float" position, tell him to pull his knees up under himself, press his hands down, and lift his head.

Learning How to Float and Glide

Practice the prone float several times with the youngster, alternating the floating position and the standing position. Gradually ease away your hand from underneath his waist as he settles into a comfortable and balanced position.

The "prone glide" is nothing more than the prone float with a push added. To teach this swimming technique, ask the youngster to lean forward, with his arms extended in front until his shoulders are in the water. Instruct him to take a breath, place his face in the water and push off towards you. The push will carry him about five feet. Repeat.

Next week: "Flutter kicking" and swimming.

Bottleneck — But Not For Long

Arlington Heights motorists who take the Illinois Tollway to and from work are taking a little longer to get where they're going—but it won't be that way for long. The toll road is being widened to provide three lanes of traffic in each direction between Le St. and Illinois Rt. 53. Tollway officials say that the work should be completed within two months.

Population To Top 53,000

Census Here Set for Aug. 21

A population of 53,000 for Arlington Heights will be confirmed by a special census to be held Aug. 21, according to village manager, predicted today.

The head count will be made by the U.S. Department of Commerce on the petition of the village board. It will be completed by Sept. 15.

A year ago the population was 48,000.

The census will mean an additional motor fuel tax deduction from the state of $15,000 to $15,000 a year.

Stavros asked, "Where is his organization? Is a family man but he does his paying from the town."

Koeneken said he is forming the new group from the town."

"The special census will take three weeks and require a brief training before beginning work. Workers will be divided up into crews with a

Hobby Keeps Family Up In The Air

By MAXINE TYMA

Dr. Frank Posa, Arlington Heights dentist, is so enthusiastic about his hobby, he can't keep his feet on the ground. He likes to build airplanes in his garage. The Posa family, of S. Donald, is in fact, a flying family.

The older son, Frank III, 17, a student at Prospect High School, earned his flying license one week ago. Number 2 son, John, 15, will begin flying lessons next year.

Mrs. Elsie Posa has been a housewife and helps her husband build the planes at home.

"Really, it's just like building a model airplane," Dr. Posa said.

The craft recently under construction in the Posa garage will be a two-passenger Thorp-1E.

"I had two dreams. One was to be a dentist and one was to fly. During the way, I flew a B-17 and got a certificate in 1945 and was having flying time," Posa said.

The first plane he built, was a one-seater "miniplane" which took him two-and-a-half years to complete.

"It follows the natural progression of building a model airplane. Actually, you don't need a whole machine shop to do it. A hand saw that will cut metal, a drill, rivets, a bit and you're in business," he said.

"WHAT YOU CAN't make you try to buy from scraps of other airplanes. We builders must be the biggest scavengers in the world."

Posa and his family assemble the planes in the garage in pieces. The dentist said the first plane he moved into the driveway to put it together. He had it inspected and took it apart again to be towed to the airport.

"Our car haven't been in the garage in two years," he said.

As easy as Dr. Posa makes building an aircraft sound, he is quick to add that each builder is carefully supervised by the Federal Aviation Agency.

Representatives of the agency observe the plans, inspect the plane after it is built, have the pilot fly it for 75 hours in a designated area, and inspect it again.

He said his first airplane because "I would not do what I wanted to do."

"MY BIGGEST problem is life, is when I start a job for two years and it didn't work out. We can fly any year but we could only sail for three months. We found great competency in other pilots and their families," Posa said.

"Flying keeps him young," said Mrs. Posa.

"Some people think it is a little strange and eccentric to be building an airplane at home but I think people should be a little bit more open-minded," said Dr. Posa.

Incidentally, Dr. Posa owns three silk scarves, two white ones and a blue one, in true pilot tradition.

Dr. Frank Posa proudly displays the first airplane, a "miniplane" he built in the garage of his Arlington Heights home.

I have to finish it, I work on the plane at home on Wednesdays and weekends and every available moment," he said.

"This is very different from what I am doing professionally. Of course I have to be very careful that I don't hurt my hands when I am building," he added.

"I don't think there is anything exceptional about it although some people seem to think of us as daredevils. Some people talk about home-built aircraft as being inferior. I have never seen a home-built aircraft that was not superior to a manufactured one. These men are putting their lives into it and they build it with tender, loving care," Posa said.

This week he is trading the "fly-in" at Rockford. Sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Assn., the organization will display and demonstrate home-built aircraft.

The local chapter of the association meets the second Monday of each month at Fletcher Park in Arlington Heights. Posa, a member of the club, said there are more than 40 local members and 12 of them have built their own planes.

"I TRIED sailing as a hobby with the family and we bought a sailboat. We had it for two years and it didn't work out. We can fly any year but we could only sail for three months. We found great competency in other pilots and their families," Posa said.

"Flying keeps him young," said Mrs. Posa.

"Some people think it is a little strange and eccentric to be building an airplane at home but I think people should be a little bit more open-minded," said Dr. Posa.

Incidentally, Dr. Posa owns three silk scarves, two white ones and a blue one, in true pilot tradition.

Mrs. Frank Posa and son John review plans for the airplane now under construction in the garage of their home at S. Donald, Arlington Heights.

An Old Resident Protests

A white-haired, veteran resident of Arlington Heights last night came to the village hall to protest a pending action in an auto accident in the Board of Local Improvements (BOLI).

But it is something and it is expected to approve, engineering work on the installation of lights along Northwest.

C.L. Griffith, a trustee from 1939 to 1947 had been the village for 40 years, set on the other side of the fence last night.

During the public hearing, he asked about the lights.

"WHOSE idea was it originally? I have lived there for a long time. It seems there is enough lighting now."

S.M. Rudder, chairman of BOLI, said the lighting of the streets was the second step in a village program.

The first, he said, was the lighting of the downtown area.

Griffith then questioned why from the 96 property owners reportedly informed about the hearing only a handful showed up in the meeting.

"IT DOESN'T make sense," he said. "And I will have to know more details on the lights. How much are they going to cost?"

The cost will be carried by a special assessment on the property owners benefited by the improvement.

Griffith said this was an informal hearing the board was not legally obliged to hold. Another hearing will be scheduled to allow all the interested parties air their views.

Day Light

Recently unveiled plans for "Mount Prospect's 50th anniversary celebration in September read like the script for a Mike Todd extravaganza. The village has planned to go all out for the three day celebration.

Planned for the event is a three-hour long parade featuring 39 marching bands, a sky diving exhibition highlighted by a parachuting World War I biplane, an antique car exhibit, and a flying squadron of British War I biplanes.

Probably the most unique event will be the lighting of 750,000 light bulbs. Some local observers however have voiced some apprehension over the lighting of the giant bulb which is being supplied by the Commonwealth Edison Co.

"Do you realize what could happen if the parading big bulb became blinded by the giant beam on its way back to earth?" a friend of ours asked. "The poor guy, gone and six, could end up in Waller Creek or on top of Mount Prospect's gold water tower."

"I don't know," said another friend, "it sounds like a good idea to me after all, under the terms of the village's contract with Edison, they get all their electricity free so the big bulb won't cost them anything."

"But can you imagine what might happen if a pilot in a jet airplane bound for O'Hare gets confused by the main-bulb's bulb and lands on Illinois Rt. 83?" our first friend asked.

"You boys are missing the real point here," a third friend interrupted. "A light bulb that size could short circuit and black out the entire metropolitan United States—it could be worse than the New York blackout of 1965, the day of the law suits."

"That's not the greatest hazard posed by this oversized bulb," said our first friend. "The problem here is going to be a man."

"An anyone knows, men are attracted to light bulbs," he continued. "And a light bulb this size is a natural magnet for every man within 1,000 miles. We'll have men from Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Ohio flying full speed into Mount Prospect and smushing into the giant glass globe."

"That's right, you've hit the real problem right on the nose," our second friend said. "The men could go so thick that the parachutes and the biplanes won't be able to land."

"Of course, if Edison's biplane is able to land, it will be a great sight. I think a plane can't be repelled," said our first friend. "I think a plane can't be repelled," said our first friend. "I think a plane can't be repelled," said our first friend.

"I think we all agree that there are still some bugs that will have to be worked out."

"Black power!" conference in New York, hundreds of Negro activists talked of hate, boycotts and armed rebellion. They talked of the need for separation from white America. In so doing they were repeating the words of those who would like nothing better than to open us up between the black and white.

We hope that the vast majority of Americans, of all races, have too much good sense, and good will to permit civil rights movement to degenerate to this level.

The extremists, the fanatics, the haters—the outright traitors—on both sides are wrong. They must be repudiated. All Americans have come too far and have too much to lose and too much to gain, to allow their hearts to be hardened.

Around a Changing World

By Catherine O'Donnell

Steve and Dee Jucos and their 11-year-old son Steve III returned on July 15 from a trip around the world in 77 days. This was the sixth trip abroad for the Arlington Heights couple who live in N. Douglas.

They picked all of the things they missed in previous journeys.

Steve is an attorney and Dee is president of the Women's Club. This year, the program committee of the meeting: The unadorned stories of the trip are much more fascinating than the ones that can be printed.

Steve should have been given some sort of a good will ambassador hat by the Rotary Club. Every place he went, he visited with one of the international Rotary members or attended a meeting, it to be exact.

Jucos saw, especially on one side up to Hokkaido Island and an out of the way visit with a tribe of Caucasians who live as the American Indians used to. Taipei in Formosa was exciting. But in Hong Kong, the natives put on a demonstration that makes the local television spy movies pretty tame in comparison.

Every place that the Jucos went, they stayed at least five days. "The boy, before they were as leave Hong Kong, Steve stopped with Dee to visit Harry Herdella, a fellow Rotarian and a local businessman who owns a tailor shop. Steve did what every tourist does in Hong Kong, ordered a nut. Earlier that morning before they left the Peninsula Hotel in Kowloon where they were staying, they watched as a crowd gathered in front of a loud speaker across the street. The voice from the speaker was that of Mao Tse Tung.

We could see the crowd getting angry," Dee said. "We went to the taller and while we were on the street, we felt the iron grates down in front of us and told us to go upstairs."

The people were rioting and it wasn't safe for anyone looking English or American to be on the street. We hid the things in the red square and we heard the shouting and the sounds that followed and we heard the same six hours while we stayed upstairs."

We walked over to the hotel and found that it had been boarded up and we left it that morning. We just came back and found the door open and we went to the airport."

After sharing a car and a couple of nights, Dee and Steve came home to the American Rotarians. There had been enough space to describe her reactions to the trip.

"You know," she says, "there is something wonderful about the United States where the customs man said, 'It's good to have you home. Welcome home. The customs people do talk to their own people like that in any of our countries' we visited."

As we said, Dee is an American in apple pie.

Repudiate the Haters On Both Sides

Too many Americans, both black and white, have lost sight of what the civil rights movement is all about. We wonder if they ever understood it.

In aim, basically and ultimately, is to create a society which affords the maximum opportunity to work, live and learn and to realize potentials as human beings as they are able, without regard to the color of the skin.

Too many Americans, both black and white, seem willing to watch that dream down the drain.

The U. S. House of Representatives—those enthusiastically passed a dubious anti-riot bill to treat the symptoms of Newark and Detroit, but ridiculed a plan to exterminate the rats which for outNUMBER the Negroes in the cities' teeming slums.

DOCTOR SAYS

Eyelids

W.G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—About a year ago my husband started having what a doctor called Bephenonism. What is the cause? Is there any cure?

A—Bephenonism is a persistent upset causing firm closure of the eyelids. It may be caused by abnormal sensitivity to light, inflammatory diseases of the eyes or an emotional strain. It is sometimes associated with parietal lobe (back of the head) epilepsy. Transcendental may help but if it is chronic an operation severing the nerves that supplies the muscles of the eyelids may be necessary.

Q—I have congested hemorrhoids that keep recurring. In both eyes. Can something be done for this condition?

A—These hemorrhoids are often seen in persons with hardening of the arteries and may be precipitated by coughing, sneezing or straining at stool. In some persons they occur without any apparent cause. This condition is not serious and may be treated without treatment in about two weeks. It helps, however, to apply cold compresses for 15 to 20 minutes two or three times a day for the first two days, then hot compresses for three or four days.

Q—Aunt Mary has made that reduce the blood pressure? And you are overweight? You should make it a point to bring your weight within the normal range for your height. It is general it is advisable to eat a self-purify diet.

Letters to Editor

Letter to BJE, Gripe of the Day

Thank you for your comment on the some books. It's good to know some people aren't so comfortable in their own little world as to realize that without that Freedom sound, they might not be so comfortable.

My husband has been in service of his Country for 30 years and has fought for his Country in three wars.

For the past few weeks, my husband has been in the hospital and I have to take care of him. I call to report a sonic boom in the Champaign area. The Air Force should know if you are damaged by one of the bombs but he could cure him out because it disturbed your nap, or upset your dog, is a bit silly."

So I say again B. J. E. thanks for being "The Sound of Freedom."

I appreciated very much the article entitled, "Why a New Constitution?" that appeared in the Arlington Day on July 20, 1967. It was based on an address I had given to the newly elected Municipal Council in Springfield recently.

However what the article said was not correct. I am a registered voter. I am a citizen. I am a resident. I am a taxpayer. I am a member of the community. I am a person who has a right to be heard. I am a person who has a right to be heard. I am a person who has a right to be heard.
